

Measuring Wellbeing among VOA's SSVF Program Participants: Year One Results from the Flanagan Quality of Life Survey

This update covers survey information from January 1, 2015 to December 31, 2015. Most affiliates participating in the survey are included in this overall update. The survey captures changes over time in participants' physical and material wellbeing, interpersonal relationships, and levels of community engagement and fulfillment. The goal of the study is to understand the overall impact of SSVF programs on participants' wellbeing by monitoring their changing needs over the course of the program.

Affiliates included in this update: Mid-States, Northern California and Northern Nevada, Greater New York, Greater New Orleans, Pennsylvania, Los Angeles, Chesapeake, Carolinas, Florida, Greater Ohio, and Southeast.

Recommendations

- Have affiliates conduct follow-up surveys?
 - Allows reconnection between participants and affiliates if they may still need help
- Present the Flanagan survey as a part of paperwork for every client possible, while still maintaining that it is optional
- If you have any recommendations, please let us know!
