

THE HOMESTEAD AT BOULDER CITY

MEMORY SUPPORT RESPITE AND ASSISTED LIVING RESPITE

Making sure your loved one receives excellent care is your top priority. It's ours, too. When you need short-term memory support or short-term assisted living for a loved one, trust The Homestead at Boulder City.

For stays of seven or more days, expertly trained caregivers provide compassionate, professional health care and services within our tranquil memory support household or assisted living neighborhood. Respite guests enjoy private accommodations, and the same services, activities and social opportunities as people living long-term within The Homestead.

Rest assured. Whether you're planning a short break, or want to learn how your loved one likes living in a memory support household or assisted living neighborhood, you can trust that we treat each person in our care as family.

MEMORY SUPPORT RESPITE

At The Homestead, men and women with memory loss move throughout their days enjoying the freedom to be active and social while experiencing structured, individualized care and supervision. Each thoughtfully planned memory support household includes the everyday comforts of home and a private, secure courtyard. Dedicated caregivers are expertly trained and experienced – compassionate, attentive and committed to learning how each individual needs to be cared for on any given day.

ASSISTED LIVING RESPITE

Assisted living at The Homestead is designed to maintain your loved one's highest levels of independence and health, while they enjoy an appealing place to call home. Assisted living plans of care are individualized, and managed by an on-site, licensed nurse. Added conveniences and amenities enhance the assisted living respite experience.
